Advanced's Blended Learning Approach

What is blended learning?

Blended learning is not necessarily a new method of training; however, technology has enabled us to adapt existing learning programmes from the traditional methods into this more adaptable approach.

Our blended learning experience, utilises learning paths combining self-paced digital learning; virtual classroom sessions with one of our trainers, supported by comprehensive training guides.

Why we provide blended learning:

- Different people learn different things in different ways.
- Using multiple modalities dramatically reinforces engagement, learning and retention.
- Learners can control the pace of their learning.
- Blended learning is more cost effective.
- Blended learning is modular and scalable, allowing users to receive training focused on their business needs.

Advanced Digital Learning

Our modules are built using software recordings, interactive screens, and knowledge checks, providing a fully interactive learning experience. All sessions have associated audio which will auto-play when the course is started.

Our modules are accompanied by Closed Captions, where appropriate. In addition there is also a Dyslexia filter which can be applied to ensure that the learning is truly accessible.
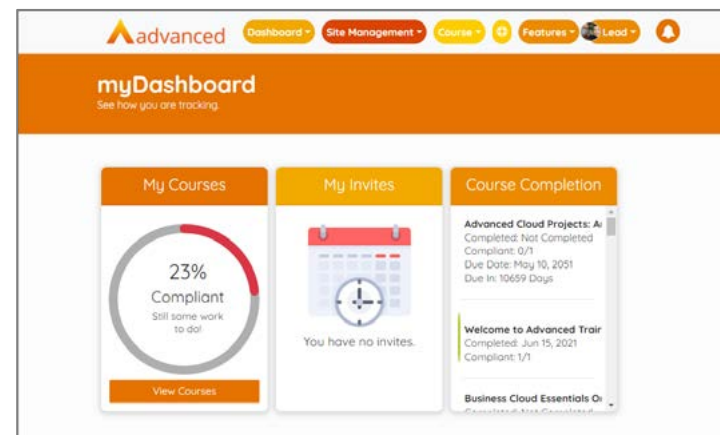

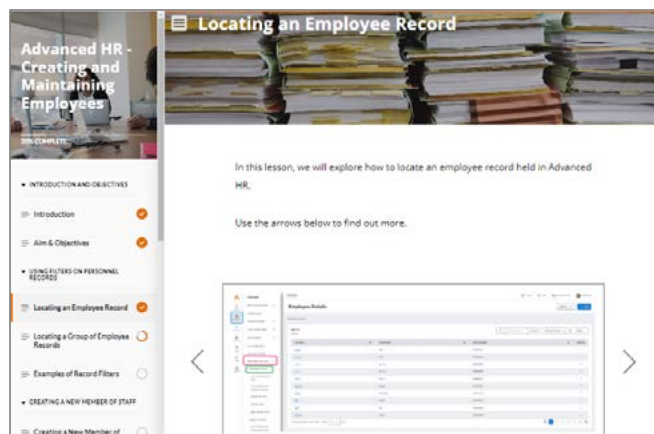

At the end of each module, learners will need to complete an evaluation of learning. This will ensure that they have gained the information necessary to use the system efficiently. Learners can also access the eLearning as many times as they like for the duration of the contract. Advanced eLearning Portal & Reporting

The eLearning content can be accessed via an internet browser, iOS or Google App using a smart phone or tablet, meaning that users can access the content any time and in any location.

Our eLearning Portal also has a full MI Reporting suite which allows organisations to report on key statistics, an example of which are shown below:

- Course times users have engaged with content
- Active logins & login times
- Completion (compliance) rates

Advanced Classroom Training

Not only will you be working with our knowledgeable, friendly, expert trainers you will also receive high-quality, user-friendly materials.
